Winter Season Special Considerations:

1. Footwear: When people arrive--and this means everyone, whether you go on the ice or not--you take off your outdoor footwear.

When you come through the door, you are on carpet. The carpet area is where you take off your outdoor footwear, and put it in one of the spaces along the wall. Do not put on your curling shoes while still on the carpet. The shoes would just pick up the dirt from the outdoor shoes and carry it inside. If you're not curling, you may bring clean indoor shoes or slippers, or go in your socks.

Carry your curling shoes and other gear inside and find a chair where you can sit and put on your curling shoes. Men's and women's change rooms are available, if desired.

Finally, as you go through the door to the ice, step with both feet on the sticky mats, to remove any dirt from your curling shoes.

Curler don't need to have official curling shoes. Clean running shoes with a rubber sole will do fine. We have sliders which fit under the shoe, so that can curlers can deliver their rocks in the normal way. But the key word is clean. Those shoes must not have any dirt on them; preferably shoes which are never worn outdoors.

The goal is to stop as much dirt as possible right at the entrance. The reason we are so fanatical about this is that even a tiny pebble which gets on the ice can scratch the stones, and make them behave erratically.

2. Children in the Stirling Curling Club MUST be accompanied by an adult at all times and are not allowed to play on the ice surface.
